The David S. Smith, MD
Professorship Lecture

Building on the Strengths of Youth Enduring Hardships

Friday, April 15, 8 a.m.

David Smith was a beloved St. Christopher's general pediatrician, referred by many as the "Pediatrician's Pediatrician." He was well-respected as an exemplary clinician, educator, and scholar locally and nationally.

St. Christopher's hosts a visiting professor who embodies these wonderful qualities for which Dr. Smith was known, specifically, his work in diversity in medicine and health disparities.

Speaker:

Kenneth R. Ginsburg, MD, MEd,

Attending Physician, Division of Adolescent Medicine
Professor of Pediatrics
Co-Director of the Center for Parent and Teen Communication
Children's Hospital of Philadelphia
Director of Health Services, Covenant House PA

Dr. Ken Ginsburg practices Adolescent Medicine at The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and is a Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. He directs Health Services at Covenant House Pennsylvania, where he serves Philadelphia's youth enduring homelessness. Dr. Ginsburg practices social adolescent medicine — service with special attention to prevention and the recognition that social context and stressors affect both physical and emotional health. His research over the last 30 years has focused on facilitating youth to develop their own solutions to social problems and to teach adults how to better serve them. He is the Founding Director of The Center for Parent and Teen Communications which works with key influencers to empower parents with the strategies and skill-sets that will strengthen their family connections and position them to guide their teens to become their best selves. It works to shift the cultural narrative about adolescence from being a time to survive to one in which development is to be optimized and celebrated. He is the National Resilience Expert for The Boys and Girls Clubs of America and currently works with Covenant House International's 35 sites to solidify and magnify their practice model rooted in the healing power of loving and respectful adult connections with youth.

Learning Objectives:

1. Identify how a strength-based approach combats the demoralization that can paralyze behavioral change progress
2. Explain how to be better prepared to eliminate shame from interactions by focusing on building confidence in youth
3. Apply how to communicate with youth in a way that enables their thinking and reasoning abilities to be accessed
